

Daily Record

DAILYRECORD.COM

LENAPE VALLEY EDGES HANOVER PARK

High school football coverage. Pages B1, B4

ATLANTIC HEALTH IN MORRISTOWN

MIND, BODY, SPIRIT CARE

$6M Center for Well Being offers spa-like atmosphere

LORRAINE ASH @LORRAINEVASH

MORRISTOWN — Dean Ornish and Deepak Chopra, international luminaries in the field of integrative medicine, flew to Morristown Thursday to help celebrate the opening of Atlantic Health System's Chambers Center for Well Being.

Hundreds who supported the $6 million, 20,000-square-foot center — a veritable hub of healing techniques and practitioners — filled a festive tent outside the center for talks and a meditation led by Chopra.

Afterward, they got tours of the center, situated in the heart of Atlantic's

Outpatient Ambulatory Care Center at 435 South St., a building that also houses the health system's diabetes, and endocrine institute and metabolic medicine center, as well as practices in pediatrics and cardiology, among others.

"We're deeply grateful, honored and humbled to have this magnificent facility named after us," said New Jersey philanthropist Ray Chambers, speaking on behalf of his family. "It has been a dream."

Twenty-five years ago, the spark to create such a center was ignited over

See CENTER, Page A2

ROBB PANICONI/CORRESPONDENT

Luvo Café (left and above), serving only healthy, natural or organic meals with gluten-free options, is one of the features of the new Chambers Center for Well Being at Atlantic Health System's Outpatient Ambulatory Care Center in Morristown.

ONLINE

Chambers Center for Well Being opens with fanfare in Morristown — see video at DailyRecord.com.

LEARN MORE

CHAMBERS CENTER FOR WELL BEING

WHAT: COMMUNITY GRAND OPENING

The public will meet the integrative medicine team, enjoy tours and tastings, experience group acupuncture, massage and more.

WHEN: 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. today

WHERE: 435 South St., Morristown

COST: Free

INFORMATION: 973-971-6301, www.chamberscenterforwellbeing.org

"We're going to take that expression, 'What hurts you?' and turn it on its head. Now we're going to say, 'How good can you really feel?'"

KAREN KESSLER
CHAIRWOMAN OF THE ATLANTIC HEALTH SYSTEM BOARD OF TRUSTEES

FILE PHOTO

A coyote is seen recently exploring Dryden Way in Parsippany.

Did ill coyote, runner meet?

5th victim feared in Chester Twp.

WILLIAM WESTHOVEN
@WWESTHOVEN

CHESTER TWP. — Police are eager to track down a fifth person who may have encountered a rabid coyote that terrorized several people last weekend in the Black River Wildlife Management Area.

"It has come to our attention that possibly a fifth person came into contact with the rabid coyote on Saturday while running on Patriots Path," Lt. Thomas Williver wrote to the Daily Record on Friday. "This person has not come forward yet, and we are requesting the use of your media resources to urge this person or any other person that may have come in contact with the rabid coyote to contact the Chester Township Police at 908-879-5514."

The coyote bit one man, who was riding his bicycle on Patriots Path, and confronted two other people Saturday before attacking a 69-year-old bow hunter Sunday, biting him on the face. The hunter, identified only as a Cliffside Park resident, fought the animal off with an arrow before killing it with a knife.

The next day, state Fish & Wildlife

See RABIES, Page A4

Heads up! Soccer teams invading

STAFF REPORT

PARSIPPANY — The Parsippany Soccer Club is hosting its 26th annual Parsippany Pride Invitational this weekend, so parks and fields are expected to be extra busy.

This year, 516 teams are scheduled to play in the tournament that draws participants from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut and Canada. The Pride Invitational is the largest fall soccer tournament in the Northeast, according to organizers.

The tournament kicked off Friday and runs through Sunday afternoon, with matches held on 63 fields at 23 different venues throughout Parsippany. Tournament games are also played at the RVA Complex in Boonton Township, Horseshoe Lake Recreation Complex in Roxbury, Morris Catholic High School in Denville and Memorial Middle School in Hanover.

Insurance at issue in Morristown death

Judge's spouse hit in supermarket lot

PEGGY WRIGHT
@PEGGYWRIGHTDR

A legal argument is underway on whether a driver who struck the husband of state Supreme Court Justice Jaynee LaVecchia in the King's supermarket parking lot in Morristown had insurance coverage at the time of the 2011 accident.

The justice's spouse, Michael R. Cole, 67, of Morris Township, died on Sept. 17, 2011, about six weeks after he was struck by a vehicle on Aug. 7, 2011, while walking in the parking lot on South Street.

Cole was an accomplished New Jersey attorney, with a career that included being director of the Division of Law in the state Attorney General's Office, chief counsel to Gov. Thomas H. Kean, chairman of Legal Services of New Jersey and a former partner with the Teaneck-based law firm DeCotiis, Fitzpatrick & Cole.

As executrix of her deceased husband's estate, LaVecchia previously filed a wrongful death lawsuit in state Superior Court, Morristown, against driver Breanna Divito, then 18, of Montville.

Divito, who was issued a summons for unsafe driving, was picking up supplies

See COURT, Page A4

State Supreme Court Justice Jaynee LaVecchia was in the parking lot when her husband was hit.

"The sad fact is that one set of insurance folks thought the policy was starting on a Saturday, and the other set thinks it started on Monday."

DENNIS M. DONNELLY
ATTORNEY FOR ESTATE

ADVICE A9
CLASSIFIED B5
COMICS A11
OBITUARIES A4
OPINION A8
SPORTS B1

DAILY RECORD DAILY